

Palliative Care

Palliative care provides relief, comfort and support for people who are terminally ill and assists families and carers during and after death.

How your donation can help

Your donation will assist the Palliative Care Council of South Australia Inc. to:

- maintain and improve the availability of palliative care information and resource material to the general public, to health personnel and to the palliative care services
- advocate on behalf of people who are dying and those who care for them
- provide scholarships to enable palliative care workers travel and study in Australia and overseas

Bequests

A bequest is a gift made in a will, reserving part of an estate for a particular beneficiary. The bequest may be given for use at the discretion of the Palliative Care Council, which gives the greatest flexibility, or can be directed to a specific project.

If you have an existing will, but wish to add a bequest to it, this can be done by adding a codicil to the will. (Example given below, with suggested wording.) This form should be sent to your solicitor.

*This codicil dated /..... /..... is made by

I wish to leave a sum of money to the Palliative Care Council of South Australia Inc., 202 Greenhill Road Eastwood SA 5063, as follows:

I GIVE AND BEQUEATH free of all duties death estate succession or otherwise payable in consequence of my death the sum of $ to the Palliative Care Council of South Australia Inc. to be applied for general purposes.

If you do not have a will, we advise you to consult a solicitor to have one prepared. By leaving a will, you can ensure that your estate will be handled according to your wishes.

To discuss donations and bequests further, please telephone the Executive Officer of the Palliative Care Council of South Australia Inc. on (08) 8291 4137 or Email pallcare@pallcare.asn.au.

Objects

As an independent, community-based, representative organisation for palliative care in South Australia, our objects are:

- 1. To advocate the needs, rights and interests of people who are dying and those who care for them.*
- 2. To foster and promote community awareness of hospice and palliative care philosophy and services.*
- 3. To present to government an independent voice on issues and directions for palliative care in South Australia.*
- 4. To facilitate governments, health authorities, service providers and community groups to work together towards the provision of services to meet the needs of terminally ill people and those who care for them.*
- 5. To support and facilitate professional development and education.*
- 6. To promote the use of recognised standards for palliative care.*
- 7. To liaise and network with similar organisations elsewhere in Australia and overseas.*

To be effective the Council depends on public support and individual goodwill.
